The Last Dragon War

The final conflict for the future of Valekor.

Document 036 continues the Age of Legends. The survivors of the Great Exodus have built new kingdoms, but the ancient dragon clans now return for one last war.

Prologue

The Great Exodus gave the people of Valekor new lands, new alliances and new hope. Yet the dragons saw the expansion of mortal kingdoms as the final threat to their ancient dominion. Old nests were disturbed. Sacred mountains were claimed. Forgotten dragon relics were carried into human cities. When the first frontier burned, every new nation understood the truth: the peace had only been an intermission. This war would decide whether dragons and mortals could share Valekor, or whether one would vanish from history.

The First Flame

Scene of the Last Dragon War

Historical Event: A colossal elder dragon attacks the frontier armies and ignites the final conflict between mortals and dragonkind.

Location: Ashen Frontier
